(Reading Skills)

Read the following passage carefully :

A hobby is an activity that a person enjoys doing in their free time for pleasure, personal satisfaction, and relaxation. It is something that they pursue to take their minds off work-related stress rather than for work, academic or financial reasons. Hobbies can range from active pursuits like sports and fitness, creative pursuits like painting and writing, intellectual pursuits like reading and learning new skills, and passive pursuits like watching movies or listening to music.

Hobbies give individuals a sense of accomplishment, personal fulfillment, and enjoyment. They can also offer opportunities for social interaction and networking, skill development and learning, and stress relief and relaxation. There are many benefits of pursuing hobbies, including, improved mental health as hobbies can help reduce stress, anxiety, and depression by providing a healthy outlet for emotions and helping individuals relax and unwind. Hobbies also give us increased creativity. Another benefit of pursuing hobbies is it gives us a sense of personal fulfillment and self-expression.

There are many types of hobbies to choose from and the options are endless. The best way to find a hobby that is right for you is to explore your interests and passions. You can also consider how much time and money you are willing to invest in it. Setting goals can keep you motivated and focused on your hobby.

An individual can consider different types of hobbies depending on their interests and preferences. Active hobbies are those hobbies that involve physical activity, such as sports, fitness, dance, yoga, or hiking, whereas creative hobbies are those hobbies that involve creating or making something, such as painting, drawing, sculpting, writing, photography, or cooking. Pursuing a hobby is a great way to take care of yourself and experience the joys of life.

Read the following passage carefully :

The curry plant is a tropical to sub-tropical tree in the family "Rutaceae", which is native to India and Sri Lanka. The curry leaves are used extensively in South Indian and Sri Lankan cooking, especially in curries. Although thrown out later, the curry leaves are essential in providing the rich aroma to the curries. Recent studies have shown these leaves to possess anti-diabetic, antioxidant, hepatoprotective properties. They are also good for hair. The plant is cultivated throughout India and in the foothills of Himalayas. The curry plant is a large shrub or small evergreen or deciduous tree 5 m tall with a short trunk, thin, smooth, grey or brown bark and a dense, shady crown. Most parts of the plant have a strong, peculiar smell. The leaves of the plants are pinnately compound and are arranged spirally, crowded on the ends of branchlets. Flowers are white in color.

Curry leaf has many medicinal properties. Curry leaves are rich in Vitamin A and calcium. The calcium content in curry leaves helps in strengthening the bones. It might reduce the possibilities of osteoporosis and managing calcium deficiency. It also prevents deposition of fat in various parts of the body. The presence of carbazole alkaloids in the leaves prevents weight gain and reduces the LDL cholesterol in the blood. It washes out the harmful toxins from the body and burns excess fat. The leaves of Curry plant are also used as a herb in Ayurvedic medicine.
